SHOOK THE CITY

New York Is the Scene of a Terrific Explosion In a Tunnel.

THE POWDER LET GO

Reserve Supply of High Explosives Stored at Park Avenue Entrance to Tunnel Creates Favor.

Eight Lives Pay the Penalty For Somebody's Recklessness and Vast Property Loss Incurred.

New York, Jan. 28.—The reserve supply of high explosives stored at the Park Avenue shaft of the rapid transit tunnel, now in course of construction, blew up yesterday afternoon. The giant blast killed eight persons, injured a hundred others and seriously damaged all the property reached by the flying debris and the vibration of the shock. The irregular square formed by the Murray Hill hotel on the west, the Manhattan Eye and Ear hospital, and the Grand Union hotel on the east and the Grand Central railroad station on the north was the scene of the explosion. The buildings named sustained the greatest damage, but the area affected extended for several blocks in the four directions from the center.

J. Roderick Robertson of Nelson, B. C., was killed by debris hurled by the force of artillery into his room at the Murray Hill hotel. He was general manager in Canada for the British Columbia Gold Fields company, and a prominent citizen in the community where he lived. He is said to have been quite wealthy.

The sunken approach to the street railway tunnel used by the Madison Avenue line cuts through Park Avenue and the shaft for the rapid transit subway was run down beside it at the intersection of East 41st street. The street railway approach was housed over with a superstructure used for the operating plant of the rapid transit contractors. Temporary buildings for storage purposes were thrown up against the superstructure at the mouth of the shaft, and there the explosion occurred. It tore a great gorge in the street, demolished the temporary buildings and part of the superstructure, and sent a mass of earth, splintered timber and twisted iron high in the air. Much of it went rattling against the front of the Murray Hill hotel, and although the walls and main structure of that building stood the shock, nearly every room in the house was wrecked.

The Manhattan Eye and Ear hospital on the east side of the avenue fared nearly as badly and had to be abandoned by the management. The Grand Union hotel lost all of its windows and glass partitions, and practically every front window in the Grand Central station was shattered. The great clocks on its front towers were blown from their cases. Thousands of windows, some of them seven blocks from the tunnel and shaft, fell in fragments. It was the shower of broken glass and falling debris that injured the greatest number.

General alarms brought firemen, police reserves and every available ambulance to the district and the injured were speedily cared for. A majority of the injured were treated on the spot and the white-coated ambulance surgeons worked for an hour in the debris strewn street. Police lines were thrown across either end of Park Avenue and across the intersecting streets. Several times the police cleared the street of people in front of the Murray Hill hotel. Torrents of water from broken mains poured into the tunnel shaft while the wreckage was being cleared from the street railway subway, and it was feared that the street might cave in.

The cause of the explosion and the quantity of explosives that blew up are not definitely known. Several causes have been advanced. One was that a fire started near the powder room and that Master Mechanic Wm. Tubbs lost his life in a desperate attempt to quench it before it reached the deadly fuel. It will probably take an official investigation to reveal the true explanation. Several men who were very close to the shaft escaped, while others hundreds of feet away were knocked down and injured.

District Attorney Jerome visited the scene and made an investigation to guide him in the official inquiry and possible criminal prosecution that will follow. Ira A. Shaler, engineer in charge of the work at Park Avenue, John Bracken, a foreman, and Martin McGrath, an assistant foreman, were placed under arrest and charged with homicide. William Barclay Parsons, chief engineer of the rapid transit commission, said that Shaler was one of the most competent and careful engineers he ever knew.

The first estimate may exceed $1,000,000. The damage to the Murray Hill hotel placed the loss at $100,000, but later the hotel was abandoned as unsafe. If the building is condemned the loss on it alone will approach $1,000,000. The damage to the Grand Union was estimated at $40,000 and that to the Manhattan hospital at $25,000. The loss at the Grand Central station was entirely in glass, as was that of the 100 or more other buildings affected by the explosion. No estimate was made of the losses sustained by the rapid transit contractors.

BAD AT THE BEST

From All Viewpoints Neely Was Found Short, Says Inspector.

Havana, Jan. 28.—The chief witness yesterday in the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postal frauds was Inspector Gregory, who testified to having come to Havana when the frauds were discovered to inspect the department of finance of the Cuban postoffice. Gregory said that the accounts of C. F. W. Neely were examined from three different standpoints and that, even with a credit to Neely of 392,000 stamps destroyed there was a shortage in his accounts of $30,600, while with the exact amount debited against him by Washington and shown by the auditor's books, there was a shortage of $100,813. Gregory said the cash account showed a shortage of $110,278 and estimated the total shortage at $131,413. Regarding the miscellaneous account kept by Neely, Gregory said he had discovered several charges, the amount of which corresponds to certain private bills of Esteban G. Rathbone which Neely had charged to this account, and for which there were no vouchers.

TOOK THE SAFES

Train Robbers In South Carolina Fix to Loot at Leisure.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 28.—An express robbery occurred near Branchville shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. As the northbound train from Charleston slowed up two miles from Branchville the engineer and fireman and conductor were ordered by several masked men at the point of pistols to stop the train. The robbers overpowered the passengers, uncoupled the engine and express and baggage car, went two miles up the road, unloaded the two iron express safes, put them on a two-horse wagon and drove away. The express messenger was ordered by the robbers to unlock the safes, but declared that he did not know the combination.

The leader is supposed to be the notorious Bartow Warren, who robbed the express car within a few miles of Branchville in 1899. He murdered the chief witness against him and escaped from jail, and recently has been reported as at large in Orangeburg county.

A Question of State.

Berlin, Jan. 28.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia will give a dinner to Andrew D. White, United States ambassador, and Mrs. White, Jan. 31. Von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, it appears uncertain whether President Roosevelt will accept a present from Emperor William, owing to the traditional belief that the presidents of the United States ought not to accept gifts from abroad. If President Roosevelt accepts this present, the character of which is as yet secret, it will probably be deposited in the Smithsonian Institution or accepted pending congressional approval. It is understood here that inquiries are being made in Washington concerning the inclinations of President Roosevelt, and that no present will be offered if it is intimated that it must be declined.

Kruger's Visit Not Likely.

The Hague, Jan. 28.—The rumors that Mr. Kruger, having received invitations from Chicago, New York and Philadelphia to visit these cities, would probably start upon an American tour next April, arose from the efforts of some pro-Boers who are anxious to further energetically their propaganda in the United States. It is probable that some Boer delegates will start for America in the spring, but unless there occurs a material improvement in the health of Mr. Kruger it will be physically impossible for him to be a member of this party.

Arrested In Cincinnati.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The police department has received word of the arrest in Cincinnati yesterday of Morris Affelder, alias Herman Halderfer, on a charge of forgery. Affelder also is wanted in Washington for the alleged forging of Senator Beveridge's name to three checks upon which he is said to have obtained $200 from local firms. He was employed by the senator as a servant and disappeared four weeks ago.

Now With the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The senate yesterday in executive session received the treaty with Denmark, transferring the West Indies possessions of that country to the United States. The exact consideration specified in the treaty to be paid by this country is $5,000,000.

IT CREATED TALK

Gen. Wheaton's Recent Criticism of Schurman Stirrs the Senate.

MINORITY HAS KICK

Mr. Dubois, Speaking For His Side Says They Have Had Enough of "Threats and Blackmail."

Aerimous Debate Is Thus Precipitated and It Takes a Wide Range.

Washington, Jan. 28.—An animated and prolonged discussion was precipitated in the senate yesterday over the right of army officers to criticize utterances made in the senate or elsewhere on the conduct of affairs in the Philippines. At times it became somewhat acrimonious, officers in the Philippines being taken sharply to task for statements attributed to them in dispatches from Manila.

Rising to a question of privilege early in the session Mr. Dubois (Idaho) had read a press dispatch from Manila in which General Wheaton was quoted as criticizing some utterances of Prof. Schurman in a speech delivered in Boston. Mr. Dubois thought the president in the circumstances would be warranted in reprimanding General Wheaton for his criticisms. He declared that such comment upon the action of the senate was "outrageous and indecent" and that the minority had had quite enough of threats and blackmail.

The debate thus precipitated took a wide range. Mr. Lodge, Mr. Spooner and others maintained that no newspaper utterance ought to be accepted as the basis of a reprimand of any officer unless it were supported by an investigation indicating the accuracy of the report.

Rising to speak on the pending question Mr. Money (Miss.) delivered an extended speech, in the course of which he went pretty thoroughly over the whole Philippine question. Mr. Platt (Conn.) took sharp issue with the Mississippi reporter on some of his conclusions of constitutional law, contending that the United States could not be expected to grant independence to the Filipinos and to relinquish all rights in the islands merely because of the natives' desire for liberty.

Little was done in the house and that body adjourned until Wednesday.

SPOILED THEIR SPORT

Indians Who Were Torturing Victim Checked By U. S. Marshal.

Guthrie, O. T., Jan. 28.—Fred Tiner, a full-blood Shawnee Indian, alleged to have outraged three Shawnee squaws on last Thursday, was tied to a stake to be burned to death by members of his tribe, men and women. He was first cruelly tortured. His face was beaten out of shape, his ears were torn nearly off by squaws, and other horrible tortures were being applied when Deputy United States Marshal Davis arrived from Arbeka, I. T., held the mob back with a gun, and singlehanded cut the thongs, backed away from the crowd with his prisoner, and safely escaped to Weweka, where Tiner was placed in jail.

They Don't Take It Kindly.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, Jan. 28.—The tidee, referring to the signing of the treaty providing for the sale of the Danish West Indies, says: "A plebiscite appears to be out of order and superfluous. After negotiations for the sale, lasting for years, everything is completed. Asking the people's opinion is a strange proceeding intended to shift the responsibility which the inhabitants should not assume. There was a clearly fixed plan to sell, despite warnings and appeals. A repetition of the ordeal of 1867 is repulsive. It is reported that the treaty is unconditional; therefore the people are called on to vote without knowing anything of their future."

Lawyer May Be Accomplished.

New York, Jan. 28.—Edward Kern, the valet of Paul G. Thebaud, who is accused of having robbed his employer of $50,000 worth of jewelry, reached this city yesterday in custody. Kern told Captain Titus of places in this city where he had pawned small pieces of jewelry, but when asked if he would reveal the hiding place of a $15,000 pearl, he said he was not ready and that whether he would or not depended upon the advice of his lawyer.

Sexton's Suicide.

New York, Jan. 28.—William Schell made a murderous assault on his employer, Gustav Wall, in Toms River, N. J., yesterday. Leaving Wall unconscious, Schell went to the German Presbyterian church, of which he was sexton, made a pile of pew cushions, saturated it with kerosene oil, and set it on fire. Then he went into the church basement and committed suicide by shooting.

Chicago Hotel Tragedy.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Dr. Harry J. Zeigler of 316 West King street, Lancaster, Pa., fatally wounded his wife Anna and then killed himself yesterday afternoon at the Wellington hotel.

BIG WAR FUND

United Mine Workers Will Levy a Special Assessment.

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—The United Mine Workers took yesterday what is regarded by many of the delegates as the most important action of the convention. A resolution came from Indiana district No. 11, providing that the convention should levy an assessment on all the members of the organization sufficient for the purpose of carrying to a speedy and successful termination all strikes now engaged in by the entire organization. After considerable debate another motion that the amount of the assessment be left to the national executive board to determine was passed. Before adjournment President Mitchell, who is head of the executive board, had an understanding with the convention that the levy was to cover only such strikes as have the indorsement of the national board.

The purpose of the resolution providing for the assessment is understood to be mainly to bring to an end as soon as possible the Hopkins county (Kentucky) and the Thacher and Matewan (West Virginia) strikes, all of which have been in progress for several months, and have been costing the organizations many thousands of dollars. The miners believe they are in a fair way to win in both states, if there is co-operation on the part of all members. The Indiana miners have been paying a part of their wages for several months for the maintenance of the Kentucky men.

The Deadly Gasoline.

Cincinnati, Jan. 28.—Mrs. John Fisher and her 3-year-old son Charles died last night from burns received as a result of a gasoline explosion which occurred at noon yesterday. Mrs. Fisher was filling a gasoline stove, not having noticed that one of the burners was lit. An explosion followed which terribly burned both mother and child and resulted in their death last night.

Against Church Law.

Paris, Jan. 28.—Miss Sybil Sanderson yesterday consented to give the reason for breaking her engagement to marry Count Henri De Fitz-James, which she says is due to religious obstacles, as Count De Fitz-James is a Roman Catholic and was divorced two years ago.

President Tyler's Son.

New York, Jan. 28.—Dr. Lachlan Tyler, son of John Tyler, tenth president of the United States, and brother of the president of William and Mary college, is dead in this city from appendicitis. Dr. Tyler was 50 years old.

Gen. Batchelder Resigns.

Washington, Jan. 28.—President Roosevelt has accepted the resignation of Captain Nathan P. Batchelder, quartermaster general.

TUESDAY JAN. 28, 1902.

SENATOR FAIRBANKS has suggested the erection of an executive building adjacent to the White House. It is conceded that the White House is inadequate and that more room should be provided.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE has been placed on a special committee with Senators Allison and Dubois to work out a system of coinage for the Philippines. The work of this committee will be of very great importance.

"OUR STANDARD," that Indianapolis democratic paper published by Dr. J. F. Callen, is still after "Banker O'Brien," as it calls him, the democratic state chairman. He says his election as state chairman is an insult to the memory and teachings of Jefferson and Jackson.

THERE are at present an unusually large number of smallpox cases in Indiana, especially at Indianapolis. It seems that health authorities are finding it difficult to keep the victims quarantined. The public can do much to prevent the spread of any contagion by using good judgment in due season. Don't wait until smallpox appears in your vicinity to be vaccinated. Better not wait for an emergency before you act.

Remember
All excursions are authorized via the Southern Indiana Railway. If you want cheap rates inquire at Southern Indiana Railway ticket office, H. H. ROSEMAN, G. P. A.

A Good Recommendation.
"I have noticed that the sale on Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have once used them," says Mr. J. H. Weber, a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa. What better recommendation could any medicine have than for people to call for it when again in need of such a remedy? Try them when you feel dull after eating, when you have a bad taste in your mouth, feel bilious, have no appetite or when troubled with constipation, you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which they afford. To this union were born eleven children, five boys and six girls, three of whom have preceded their father to the beyond, leaving his wife and eight children and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his death. He became a member of the Church of Christ at this place some forty years ago, under the preaching of Bro. C. P. Hollis. But all is stilled now in death. There is light and hope beyond this death and the grave, where all the obedient children of God can re-assemble where there is no more death, no more sorrow, tears and separation, where the redeemed of all ages can sing in glorious triumph the song of Moses and the Lamb around the white throne of God. So let us all have an undying faith, hope and courage, ever looking forward to the prize and high calling as it is in Christ Jesus our Lord. Funeral services were conducted by Elder D. M. Brown at the Church of Christ. Interment at the new cemetery.

Remarkable Cure of Croup.
A LITTLE BOY'S LIFE SAVED.
I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that I had not got the bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—JOEL DEMONT, Inwood, Iowa. Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.
What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

RAILROAD WRECKS.

State Factory Inspector McAbee Suggests Means of Prevention.

State Factory Inspector McAbee has made a study of the causes of many of the railroad accidents that have occurred in this country in recent years and especially within the last few months. At one time he was a "railroader" and studied many of the things that might cause a wreck. In discussing the matter yesterday he said:

I have noticed that the railroad companies are asking for suggestions for preventing railroad wrecks. In my opinion one of the best steps that could be taken by railroad companies that run fast trains is to have three men in the engine cab instead of two—the engineer and fireman. This would prevent many wrecks, such as head-end collisions, and would eliminate many of the other causes of wrecks. On a train running sixty miles an hour the fireman is kept constantly busy shoveling coal. He has no time whatever to look away from his work. The engineer is constantly at his throttle, but if there should be something wrong with the machinery of the engine his attention is diverted. If his attention is attracted away from the road ahead for only thirty seconds the train would have run a half a mile.

"With a competent third man in the cab there would be a constant lookout ahead, and should anything happen to the engine there would be some one to attend to it instead of diverting the attention of the engineer. If a third man is not placed in the cab railroad companies should be compelled to place patent automatic stokers on their engines so that the fireman would not be kept constantly busy at the fires."

AFTER THE BATTLE.

A VETERAN'S STORY OF A TASSELED TURKISH FEZ.

The Growsome Incident In Which He Participated at the Second Battle of Manassas—A Brave Boy and His Dying Request.

"Whenever I see a tasseled Turkish fez," said a Confederate veteran whose attention had been attracted by a smoking cap of that pattern in a Canal street window, "I am reminded of a curious and rather growsome incident of my campaigning days. It was on the morning after the second battle of Manassas," he continued in response to a request for the story, "and several of us from my company had gone over to the field in the hope of picking up a few things that we badly needed and for which the dead had no further use—waterproofs, for instance, and sound canteens.

"During the previous day's engagement you may remember that a regiment of freshly recruited New York zouaves held the crest of a hill and were charged and almost annihilated by Hood's brigade. They were mowed down like ripened grain and fell so thickly that their corpses literally carpeted the earth. I dare say it was as awful a slaughter, considering the number engaged, as occurred anywhere in the course of the war.

"Well, we hadn't gone very far when we came to this hill and began to get among the dead men. The poor fellows had been murdered into service less than a week before, and they were said to be the most gorgeously uniformed military troop ever organized. They wore scarlet Turkish trousers, blue jackets embroidered with gold bullion braid and purple fezes with long pend-ent tassels.

"Being just from the outfit, all this fine regalia was perfectly fresh and new, and somehow or other it added to the ghastliness of the spectacle on the hillside. The corpses were in all sorts of strange postures, and their fantastic costumes gave them an air of horrible grotesqueness that I couldn't begin to describe in words.

"However, to come to my point, I had picked up a fez to carry away as a relic and was about to leave the spot when I happened to notice a much handsomer specimen on the head of a little zouave stretched out, stiff and stark, a few yards away, with a handkerchief over his face. I stepped up to make a 'swap' but had barely touched the tasseled when a low, sweet toned voice under the handkerchief said, 'Please don't!'

"For a moment," continued the veteran, "that unpleasant protest, coming from what I had supposed to be a corpse, made my hair bristle on my head. Then I lifted the handkerchief and was shocked to see the delicate, refined features of a boy not over 15. He was pale as death and evidently desperately wounded, but he looked at me calmly. 'My God,' I exclaimed, 'what a lad you are to be here!' 'I'm afraid I'm dying unless I have help,' he replied. 'Do you think the surgeons will be around pretty soon?' 'The Lord knows!' I groaned, for the boy's courage touched me to the heart. 'Your surgeons have all run away, and we only have a few, with more wounded than they can attend to.' 'Then I guess all I can do is to lie here quietly and die,' he said in the same gentle voice. 'Can you get me a little water before you go?'

"I took his canteen and hurried down to a branch at the foot of the hill, where the first thing I saw, by the way, was the corpse of a zouave floating in a pool. I went up the stream far enough to get out of the horrible death zone, filled the canteen with pure water and was soon back at the boy's side. I gave him a drink, and he thanked me. 'Is there nothing else I can do?' I asked awkwardly, because I knew our company was under early marching orders that morning and that it would be impossible for me to linger much longer. 'Nothing at all, thank you,' he replied. 'No message to anybody?' 'No; nothing, thanks!'

"I turned away most reluctantly and had gone only a few yards when I heard his thin voice calling me back. 'Excuse me,' he said, 'but I want you to accept this as a present,' and he handed me his fine purple fez. 'No, no,' I exclaimed, greatly embarrassed; 'I couldn't think of taking it. When I started to a little while ago, I thought you—' 'Thought I was dead, of course,' he interrupted. 'Well, I soon will be, and that other fez will do me just as well. Please put it on my head and take mine.' I saw that he would be hurt unless I did as he desired, so I took the fez and went away.

"In less than half an hour our company was on the march, and, needless to say, I never heard anything more of the little child zouave. He was badly wounded and undoubtedly died where I left him. I kept the fez a long time," added the veteran, "but it was finally lost, with other odds and ends, in the general confusion following the war. I'd give some money for it today."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Good Effects of Apple Eating.
The apple is such common fruit that few are familiar with its remarkable efficacious properties. Everybody ought to know that the very best thing they can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night. The apple is an excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other vegetable known. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth. That is not all. The apple agglutinates the surplus acids of the stomach, helps the kidney secretions and is one of the best preventives known of diseases of the throat.—Journal of Agriculture.

HE SAVED THE SCOW

A CLEVER BIT OF STRATEGY IN AN ENGINEERING JOB.

How a Young American Engineer Brought His Spirit of Invention to Aid in Solving a Wreck Problem in South America.

"It is easy enough for an engineer to show ability in New York or in other big towns where he can get about all the tools and conveniences ever devised. It is when an engineer finds himself in the wilds of a jungle or up in the mountains, hundreds of miles from civilization, that his own natural ingenuity and invention count," said a veteran engineer to a youngster who had been admitted to the ranks of the Engineers' club.

"Down in Surinam, Dutch Guiana, where the arrival of a sailing schooner causes a sensation, where a mail steamer enters the muddy harbor once in two weeks to carry two hours to get rid of its mail and to take on a few passengers, there was once a young American engineer who showed that he had the proper spirit of invention to advance him to the front ranks of the profession. Like all the best inventions, his was the simplest one, and it was one that was widely talked about among the profession to the credit of the inventor.

"To understand the story properly you need a trifling insight into Surinam and its habits. Here Indians may be seen on the streets wearing only a breechcloth. The white population is so scarce that all are thrown together as if in one large family. Englishmen, Americans, Germans, Dutchmen and Frenchmen all combining together and forming clubs and society to keep themselves from dying of sheer loneliness.

"In this primitive town there was a man who held the splendid monopoly of owning a large scow. That, up there, seems a remarkably small thing to be proud of, but the value of even a scow depends entirely upon where the scow is and what it will cost to replace it. This particular scow had been built by American ship carpenters sent especially from the United States at great expense. There was not another scow in the entire harbor, and about all of the heavy river work to be done for the city and plantations and mining companies was done by this one vessel. Its loss, therefore, would have been not only a severe one for the owner, who had a monopoly of the business in those days, but it would have been little short of a national calamity.

"One day, while the scow was anchored in midstream, one of those smashing black squalls for which the tropics are famous broke over the river, and for twenty minutes you could not see ten feet away or hear a man shouting at your elbow. When the storm finally abated, the scow was not to be seen, and it was found she had gone down, deck load and all. To most of us there seemed about as much chance of raising the vessel as there would be to raise an ocean steamer sunk in the middle of the Atlantic.

"It was about this time that the young engineer took a hand in the problem. He asked the dimensions of the scow and was told that it was 12 by 60 feet, and then he announced that if the owner would raise the scow for four men he would raise the scow for a certain sum of money. The bargain was made, though the contractor refused to say how he would go about the job.

"Now, you must know that aside from the ebb and flood tide, which alternate every six hours, there is also what is known as a spring tide. This comes with the full of the moon, and it has the effect of making a higher flood tide than any during the month. The opposite to the spring tide is the neap tide, and that happens at the dark of the moon, with the effect that at no other tide during the month is the ebb tide so low as it is at that time. The difference in the height of water between the ebb and neap tide and the flood at spring tide is considerable.

"The engineer waited until neap tide. On that day he towed a number of logs down the river. These he anchored over the scow and sent men below to fasten chains to one side of the scow, and these he fastened to the logs on the surface. Then he waited patiently. As the spring tide approached he towed other logs down the river until he had enough to make quite a raft, and on the day of the highest tide all the logs were tied together and fastened. The tide rose steadily, and the more it rose the more the raft went down under the strain of the pull on the chains. At last, just as it seemed that the raft was unequal to the occasion, it was seen to bob up violently, and a moment later there was a commotion in the water, and the scow appeared. What had happened, of course, was this: The chains pulled upward on one side of the scow tilted it more and more until the deck load began to slide off, and finally, when all the stones had slid into the river, the scow came up under its own buoyancy. The remainder was simple. The vessel was towed to the shore, where it was hauled up on the sand, and when the water receded the holes bored into the hull caused the scow to empty. Later the holes were plugged up again, and the old ship was as fine as silk."—New York Times.
